Introduction

The Bible is more than ancient text; it reveals the heart of God toward humanity. One of the most poignant moments in Scripture is when Jesus weeps over Jerusalem (Luke 19:41–44). This moment reveals a Savior who is deeply compassionate, longing to gather His people to Himself, yet also sorrowful over their rejection of Him.

In these 21 days, we will journey through passages highlighting Jesus’ profound compassion and desire to redeem. We will reflect on His weeping not as a sign of weakness, but of powerful love and mercy. His tears overflow with grief over lost opportunities for peace and fellowship but radiate hope that repentance and restoration are still possible.

As you walk through this study, consider the deep emotions of the Son of God who embraces our brokenness and longs for reconciliation. May His heart of compassion awaken in you a fresh understanding of His love and foster a desire to share His gospel with others.

Let us open Scripture to meet Jesus, the compassionate Savior who weeps over a world, and discover how His longing to gather His people invites us into a deeper relationship with Him.

Day 1: 🥹 Jesus Weeps Over Jerusalem

Devotional: The Heartbreaking Compassion of Jesus

Jesus' tears reveal the depth of His love. In Luke 19, we see Jesus approaching Jerusalem, fully aware of the city's impending judgment and rejection of the Messiah. Yet instead of condemnation, He weeps. His tears are a window into the heart of God — a heart that longs to save, protect, and gather His people like a hen gathers her chicks.

Jesus' compassion breaks through the hardness of rejection, reflecting His desire for restoration over ruin. His sorrow shows us that God's justice is balanced by mercy, and His desire is always for peace and salvation. Even as He predicts the city's destruction, His heart remains tender and full of love.

We can learn from Jesus to grieve over what grieves God — the lostness of souls and the consequences of sin — and be moved to intercede with heartfelt love and urgency.
