Introduction

Welcome to your 21-day journey on Wisdom: Seeking Counsel, A Path to Wisdom. In a world filled with complex decisions and diverse voices, true wisdom is a treasure that many seek but few find. The Bible reveals that wisdom isn't merely about knowledge but about right judgment and godly insight. One key to unlocking this wisdom is through seeking counsel—turning to trusted, godly advisors and the Word of God for guidance.

Why is seeking counsel so vital? Because wisdom is often hidden beyond our own understanding, and open hearts that seek wise advice demonstrate humility and a willingness to grow. This study will explore scriptures showing the benefits of godly counsel, the dangers of prideful isolation, and practical ways to cultivate communities of wise advisors around us. Each day will focus on a specific aspect of wisdom through a primary scripture, surrounded by supporting verses, and accompanied by devotional reflections designed to deepen your understanding and application.

As you progress through this plan, you will discover how seeking counsel aligns your decisions with God's will, helps you avoid pitfalls, and strengthens your walk with the Lord. You will be encouraged to actively seek God's advice through prayer, Scripture, and godly mentors—because wisdom gained in this way yields better outcomes not just for you, but for those around you.

Let this journey transform how you approach decisions, relationships, and challenges by rooting your steps in divine wisdom through the powerful practice of seeking counsel. May your heart be open, your mind receptive, and your spirit guided by the Voice of Wisdom itself.

Supporting Scriptures

- Psalm 111:10 "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom; all who follow his precepts have good understanding."
- Job 28:28 "The fear of the Lord—that is wisdom, and to shun evil is understanding."

Day 1: No The Beginning of Wisdom: Fear of the Lord

Devotional: Wisdom Starts with Reverence for God

The foundation of all true wisdom begins with reverence for God. When we 'fear the LORD,' it means we respect, honor, and recognize His authority and holiness. This reverence opens our hearts to receive His guidance. Wisdom is not human cleverness but a godly understanding rooted in knowing who God is and what He desires for us.

Before we seek advice or make decisions, our primary counsel must come from knowing God deeply. As we cultivate this fear of the Lord in our lives, we position ourselves to receive wisdom through His Word and through godly counsel. Without this foundation, other advice or knowledge may be shallow or misleading.

Today, reflect on your personal relationship with God. Are you rooted in a healthy fear of the Lord that shapes your attitude toward decisions and counsel? Let this awareness prepare you to seek out wisdom stamped with godly authority.

Humble listening shows respect for the advisor and a willingness to learn. It guards against pride which often blinds us from wisdom.
